

HOLY SPIRIT

EPISCOPAL CHURCH AND SCHOOL

Celeste Gamble

3-Year-Old Teacher

I'm so excited to be teaching the two's class here at Holy Spirit Episcopal School. This is my fourth year here, but I have taught preschool for eight years and absolutely love it. Before I had children, I taught high school English and coached track and basketball in Texas and Mississippi. I graduated from the University of Louisiana at Monroe where I received my BA in Secondary Education. Since I have had my own children, I have led and organized a dozen or so Vacation Bible Schools, five children's Christmas pageants, taught all ages of Sunday School, been the children's choir director at my church for several years, and an active Girl Scout leader. As one can see, children's ministries play a vital role in my life, and I can't imagine being in a different line of work.

Having taught different age groups, the preschoolers are my favorite. I love watching their eyes get wide when they learn something new or how happy they get at the things that most people take for granted. I learn so much every year that I teach, and I feel blessed to be able to have the little guys for just a brief moment of time. It's a privilege to get to watch the grow, learn, and blossom in our wonderful school.

I have three daughters ages fifteen, thirteen, and seven, and I have been married to my college sweetheart for eighteen years. Our faith is very important to us, and I love teaching about Jesus' love to the children. They amaze me so much at how fast they can learn and remember the teachings of Christ.

I always look forward to getting to know the children and parents at Holy Spirit Episcopal Church and School, and I know it'll be a fabulous year!
